

FRONTIER

OPTICAL TRANSPORT SERVICE

Frontier is now a Verizon company

HOW IT WORKS

Wavelengths send data as light signals through fiber, with each wavelength acting like a private data lane.

Today, businesses are moving MASSIVE AMOUNTS OF CRITICAL DATA. You need the ultra-high-capacity connectivity and a partner you can count on to match this ever-growing need.

MOVE BIG DATA WITH WAVELENGTHS

Unlock robust security, lightning-fast speeds, and the reliability your business needs to thrive. Deliver a network experience that empowers your customers and employees to get the job done efficiently.

High-Capacity

- Available bandwidths of 10 Gbps, 100 Gbps, and 400 Gbps
- Ideal for high-traffic locations (headquarters, data centers, and offsite data storage)
- Scalable to meet your big data needs

* Limited service area

Blazing fast

- Experience the speed that wavelength services offer
- Low latency powered by data transmitted by light
- Less network elements means faster speeds
- It's like a non-stop flight with an uninterrupted path for your data

Secure

- Operates at the optical level on our fiber optic network, bypassing internet routers and Ethernet switches
- Direct, dedicated connection ensures a highly secure and private data transmission path

Guaranteed availability and priority support

- Up to 99.999% circuit availability SLA
- 4-hour mean-time-to-repair (MTTR) SLA commitment
- Flexible redundancy options; Protected-Plus and Unprotected
- 24/7/365 priority support
